“Amonre & Anthony became such great friends during the past school year. Anthony was always very concerned whenever Amonre was sad or having a rough day and just wanted to comfort him. Even when each boy had their off days, they would go right on playing & working together soon after.

From the day Anthony could talk, he has always had these moments where he has just ‘known’ certain things that he hadn’t been told & there has been no explanation for how he would have found out. We’re sure it has a lot to do with how empathetic he is but are still constantly amazed by it.... Over this past weekend Anthony started telling us & others about how he was going to start school in two weeks & then would say “No Amonre” “Amonre not be there.” At first, we were a bit confused and didn’t quite know what to make of it, but now have no doubt that somehow, he already knew. Amonre must have wanted to tell Anthony himself. Anthony is going to miss Amonre so very much! <3

Our thoughts are with you,
Amber, Chris & Anthony McLeod
