“ When I was much younger, maybe around 5 or 6 there were these sneakers called “bubble-gummers” that I really wanted. So our mom saved a portion of her monthly paycheck and told Jazzy to get me a pair of these newly released “exclusive “ kids’ sneakers. When he returned home excited about his accomplishment, the entire family gathered in our modest living room to watch me try on these new kicks! Unfortunately they didn’t fit and I started crying, but Big Brother was there to comfort and assure me that he would get me the correct size of the sneakers that I wanted.... And he eventually did! That was the caliber of person he was! He will be sorely missed! Love you big bro! I still can’t believe you’re gone!
