“ Post #1 To the McHie & Roby family. You all have my deepest sympathy. Iris had an interest in becoming a mortician. She'd go have conversations with Mr. Estes about the industry in her teen years. Iris would often go look through the super thick glass   windows trying to see what was going on in the prep room. How do I know? Iris invited me with her, and now I can't believe she's there in that room.  Iris was an intelligent, beautiful, young lady beyond her years who had an old soul. Perhaps, some thought she was different (she was) and didn't understand her purpose on this planet. That was between Iris and God. I met Iris and family through her brother James, and I was at their home very often. The family embraced me, showed me love. Iris and Nita were like big Sister's to me, and Nada was the cute little quiet sister. I learned so much from Iris, and we got along well. She was so talented, could dance, sing, and spoke her thoughts without being shy. Iris had her individual way of walking, that demonstrated her inner strength, girl power, and self-confidence, and pride. Iris was trusted to be in charge of the house when Miss. Lucille was at work, and Iris was very responsible with her assignment. Iris was vocal, had a nickname for everyone, she made her boundaries known, and was not a doormat. That Little Mama didn't take no mess from nobody.  I recall Iris' first being smitten with , a handsome guy named James who sported a big Afro. My fondest memories "DJ Iris" a lover of the music she played from their home. Iris played songs that expressed how she felt inside. She was an affectionate, hopeless, feminine,   romantic underneath her big  personality. Since "Music is the soundtrack of life." When I hear  Mother's Finest "Love Changes", Minnie Riperton "Lovin You", Natalie Cole "I've Got Love on My Mind", Peaches and Herb "Reunited", The Marvelettes "Don't Mess with Bill" (Lucille McHies favorite song), LTD "Love Ballad", Rocky Robbins, "You and Me", Earth Wind and Fire "Reasons" The Whispers "Lady", Heatwave "Always and Forever" and so many more. Iris was in her feelings, played these albums, like a Professional Disc Jockey entertaining a crowd, and she'd talk like a radio  host, and make you feel good. She loved to snap her fingers and  danced very well. Iris you missed your calling to entertain the world with your many gifts and talent. Your spirit will live on forever Queen. Iris was indeed one of authenticity, she was kind, quite a unique human being who loved to share, and had a big, compassionate ❤️ heart. I knew Iris well before events changed her mind and her life. I've always respected Iris, loved her; she was a good person who always treated me with love, admiration and kindness. Rest in power Iris until we meet again. You'll never be forgotten Iris, and I send my love your surviving loved ones, and children. May one R.I.P. Sincerely, your chocolate, chubby, childhood sister friend she nick named affectionately "Oink da da Dink Doink" 😊 🗑️

Post #3 Thank you to the family for livestreaming the beautiful homegoing service, so I could support you from afar. I'm elated at all the people whom she touched who came out to pay final respect to Iris a.k.a. "Diana Estes" . 🗑️ Oh yes, I remember all her alter ego names, personalities, and thank you Estes Funeral Chapel for sending her off. Iris was indeed one of a kind and loved. What a big, beautiful family Iris created to carry on her legacy. May you all stick closer together, continue to celebrate the life of Iris forever. I'm sending my love 💕 to all of you from afar. I had a second post #2 on your site, and don't see it, and hope it'll be added in her memory. R.I.P. Queen Iris 🌸 🙏
