“ This is auntie Sandra. My nephew Kevin was older than me by 5 years. My Christmas nephew will be dearly missed. He once told me God said for him to call me, while he was home sick in Texas. I’m grateful we had those long conversations during his stay there. I will hold on to ALL those conversations which were full of joy and laughter. I’ll never forget those dimples! R.I.P. nephew. Thanks for the laughs! 😘

“ Hello everyone. First of all the Couch family would like to send our love, prayers, and support to our family the Blades. We lost a man with integrity. In fact we didn't loss Kevin, we just found a permanent place in our hearts and minds for him. I would like to share a memory of my cousin Kevin. My name is John, also known as Fathead. It's was 1989, the year my Mother passed away and we were getting ready for the her funeral that next day. I needed my hair cut so I asked Kevin will he cut my hair. I can remember him say to me "yeah Fato, I'm about to hook you up Fato, trust me Fato, you're about hurt them Fato. Lol. It took him two hours to finish. In my mind I was thinking, he's jacking me up, it don't take this long for a haircut. When he was done it was a perfect Bobby Brown slanted Gumby haircut. The angle was a perfect 45 degrees. Every string of hair was in place, I got so many compliments in the neighborhood it was ridiculous. And I met a lot of Females too lol. The on top of that. He asked me what size shoe do I wear I told him 9 and a half. He pulled out from his suitcase a fresh pair of brown and beige snake skinned dress shoes and said. " Try these on Fato. If you can fit them their yours. That was the year he taught me how to coordinate my attire from head to toe. My cousin Kevin will be remembered as a Man who always staid on point. Love you Cuz. Rest In Peace. John Couch.
