“ Shortly after moving across the alley from the Baker family we got to talking with Mr. Baker. The first thing he said was "I'll watch the back of your house and you can watch the back of mine", at the time we had no idea just how much Mr. Baker would have our backs. Getting to know him was a pleasure, we loved hearing his stories about canoeing the boundary waters and bonded over his time working in the Upper Peninsula. He was constantly helping us, from airport rides to lending us tools, and when a storm blew our power mast down he convinced the linemen to run temporary power so we didn't have to go without for 3 days, just another way he lit up the neighborhood. We'll miss him greatly, but know his legacy will live on as his helpfulness and cheerfulness were clearly infectious in uplifting the block.
