“ I met Theo in Damascus Way in 2017, we were roommates. Theo was a big help in helping me adjust to coming home and he helped me get a job at Performtel, which allowed me to pay my rent once I moved out of Damascus. Theo actually gave me the info to the landlord that rented the apartment to me, which kept me from going back to prison. I remember Theo being loved by everyone, never saw him mad, he stayed fresh from head to toe, and was always constantly helping people out. He definitely knew how to make things happen, he got the apt in Hopkins or (St.Louis Park), had a couple of small setbacks, overcame them, started another family and didn't look back. The last time we saw each other was in May or June at the 200. We hadn't seen each other in a while so we caught up and exchanged numbers. I never thought that would be my last time seeing big bro. I didn't know he had passed until I saw one of our former co-workers at the barber shop and told me. I didn't believe him but after looking into it I found out unfortunately he wasn't lying. I wanted to share this and tell the story of how meeting Theo impacted my life. Love always big bro and thank you, from Jeo. ❤️🙏

“ I wasn't around Theallen much to see him as a grown man but I was around him as a child when he was growing up in Portland with his mother & brother what I remember about him the most is he was always looking out for brother Harold even though he was the Younger of the two.
